Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from The Council and Officers of the Manchester Geographical Society: For 1902 On Thursday, February 21st, 1901, accompanied by Lady Leech and my daughter, I left the Albert Docks, London, on the P. and O. steamer Victoria, for Ceylon. After a wonderfully calm passage across the Bay of Biscay the ship anchored at Gibraltar at 6-30 p.m. on the following Monday. We had to content ourselves with seeing the lights of the town, as it was too late to land. Leaving about midnight for Marseilles, we next morning found ourselves skirting the African coast, and in the distance could see the mountains covered with snow. Marseilles was reached on the succeeding Thursday morning, where the ship stayed a few hours and those who wished had time to visit the town. Here we picked up the overland passengers, including Prince Henri of Orleans, and an Italian count who could speak seven languages, including Arabic, and was the most inveterate gambler I ever met with. There is a melancholy history attached to the prince, a fine man in the prime of life; he was on his way to the French settlements in China, whence he never returned, as he succumbed to an attack of malarial fever. It was this prince who fought a celebrated duel with a relative of the King of Italy. We left Marseilles to the minute. With our captain it was woe to the man who was behind time, as will be evident when I say that just as the ship had cast loose two passengers who had lingered came rushing down the quay. The captain would not put back, and there was great excitement on board. Fortunately, under...
